Present Economic Waste

Why do prices of merchandise and commodities of all kinds remain so alarmingly high despite the fact that the war demand is long since past and production in almost every line has overtaken requirements? This is a question asked by hundreds of people. It is generally known that prices of raw materials have fallen, yet when one comes to buy the finished product into which these raw materials have been converted, the price asked is practically the same as during the war. What is the reason? The answer may be largely expressed in one word: Waste.

It is universally recognized that the prevailing high freight rates operate directly to increase the price of all goods, first by increasing the price of the raw materials and secondly by still higher charges on the finished article. One of the chief factors responsible for high freight rates is waste. Here are a few illustrations of this waste of which complaint is made:

Before the United States Government took over the railways of that country for operation during the war, the comparative simple job of changing a nozzle in the front end of a locomotive could be done by a machinist, or a machinist and helper, or even a handy man alone. Today under the present classification rules governing the labor unions, in order to change a nozzle tip it is necessary to call a boiler-maker and his helper, or a machinist and his helper, or even a handy man alone. Today under the present classification rules governing the labor unions, in order to change a nozzle tip it is necessary to call a boiler-maker and his helper, or a machinist and his helper, or even a handy man alone.

Prior to Federal control of the railways in the United States it was not an uncommon practice for a machinist and his helper to take care of all the work necessary on an electric headlight of a locomotive. Under the McAdoo Agreement the same work is now classified as to be done by the same three crafts, namely, machinist, sheet metal workers and electricians. If each of the mechanics performing the work has a helper, this has the effect of six men performing a piece of work that could be and was formerly taken care of by two men.

Under present rules where arrivals of trains require the service of men employees two hours in the morning and two hours in the evening, say 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., railroads now have to employ two shifts of eight hours each, or sixteen hours service where there is only four hours actual work. Furthermore, where two such shifts are working the starting time must be between 7 and 8 a.m., and if the arrival of a train or other operating conditions require a man on duty at 6 a.m. he must be paid for four hours each day in addition to regular eight-hour day.

The following illustrates the method of paying a wrecking crew under the McAdoo Agreement when performing road service: A wrecking crew composed of the men leaves its home terminal at 8 a.m., goes a distance of 50 miles to clear up a wreck; work of clearing main track is completed at 6 p.m.; crew ties up for sleep and rest from 6 p.m. to 7 a.m. next morning (wrecking outfit is equipped with sleeping facilities); resume duty 7 a.m. go to relieve and start on another wrecking job; under the McAdoo Agreement it is necessary to pay the entire crew continuously for the first 24 hours from the time they leave their home terminal, computed as follows: Eight hours of time and one-half, or 12 hours; 12 midnight to 8 a.m., eight hours at double time, or 16 hours; 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., six hours at straight time. Total of 42 hours paid, although crew actually performed service from 12 noon to 6 p.m. first day, six hours, and from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. second day, three hours. It will be noted actual time worked during the entire period was nine hours; balance of the time was consumed in waiting and travelling, and it will be further noted the crew was released entirely from 6 p.m. to 7 a.m. next morning, which time they were paid at time and one-half and double time while actually off duty and sleeping.

Stories of other instances of a like character, all of which are substantiated by an exhaustive inquiry into the subject, could be given. The above however goes to the heart of the economic waste taking place during the war, which the railway companies find it necessary to charge, the people are paying, not for services rendered, but to cover vicious economic waste, paying men for work they do not do and for services which are not performed. The whole system is a wrong and is doing even greater injury to those who pay than they are profiting by it because it is encouraging shiftlessness and downright dishonesty which finds expression in accepting pay for work never performed.

Selling Shoes By Pound
French Government Doing It To Get Rid of Stock
Selling shoes by the pound may seem strange, but it is what the French Government is up against in the liquidation of the two largest French army camps. More than 5,000,000 pairs of the stoutest footgear is going begging because someone put over a lot of freak sizes which couldn't be worn.

The British Way

Upholds Officials Who Speak For Nation Without Authorization.

Speaking of the reprimand administered to Rear-Admiral Sims by United States Secretary Denby for his denunciation of American Sign Fishers and of interference made by Admiral McGroarty regarding the United States' attitude towards France, the New York Times points out, by way of contrast, that the British Government does not chuck up its officials when they presume to speak for the nation without their authority. The Tribune recalls that in Cuba a British consul who threw the British flag over Americans facing a firing squad was not reprimanded. Nor was Captain Chilcote reprimanded in Manila Bay when he intervened between Admiral Dewey and the German squadron, virtually challenging Germany to war if an attack was made upon the American ships.

Red, White and Blue Corn

Chicago Professor Produced Colored Kernels By Grafting.

After three years of experiment, Professor William L. Woodworth, Northwestern University, has produced an ear of corn containing red, white and blue kernels, he announced. Professor Woodworth asserted that his corn would be able to perfect his corn so that the rows of kernels would show solid bars of red, white and blue. The colored corn was produced by crossing red and white ears to make blue ears, according to Professor Woodworth, and then grafting the three varieties.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially in the summer months, and unless prompt action is taken the child may die. The disease is caused by the use of impure food, or by the use of impure water, or by the use of impure air.

Canadian Receives French Medal

Corporal Rescued Woman From Well

Nineteen Feet Deep.
Corporal David Mills, London, a former member of the British Air Force, has been awarded a medal by the "London Campaign" of the French Republic. In 1918 when the English airmen were at Fribourg bombing the Rhine cities, Mills one night excited people standing at a farm gate. He learned that a woman had fallen 19 feet into a well and that she was water 50 feet deep. Single handed he brought the woman to the surface though he had been told it meant death to go into the shaft and that she was doubtless dead before he had arrived.

Pies You'll Like

By LORETO C. LYNCH
An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Since pie is classed among the real joys of life, if we are going to make it at all, it should make it so it will be easy to digest.

Pasty, soggy piecrust is very difficult of digestion. And even well-made pie, if it is baked in a glass or earthenware dish, with an upper crust only.

The sweetened fruit should be put into the dish. Then a half-inch strip of pastry is placed over the rim of the pie plate. The strip is moistened and the crust placed over the top. With only pastry and the upper crust are pressed together, then the edges are trimmed. The upper crust should be baked in several places to allow for the escape of steam.

A simple and satisfactory crust is made by adding together one and one-half cups of flour, one cup of sugar, one level teaspoon of baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon of salt. Cut in from two to three cups of fat and two level tablespoons of butter or lard weight about one ounce. Add just enough water to hold the ingredients together. Chill. Roll out.

A piecrust should be handled just as little as possible. The top crust of a pie should be rubbed over with oil or milk mixed with yolk of egg. Here are some recipes readers may be asking for:

Lemon Pie.
One-half cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups boiling water, juice and rind of one lemon, 1 tablespoonful of butter, 2 egg yolks, 1/2 teaspoonful salt.

Meringue.
Two egg whites, 2 tablespoonfuls sugar. Mix the sugar and flour together, add the boiling water and cook on the back of the range or over an asbestos cover, or fifteen minutes. Add the other ingredients of the filling and cook at a simmering temperature until the egg yolks thicken and add and place in a baked crust. Cover with the meringue made by whipping the egg whites until stiff and then gradually beating in the sugar. Return to the oven a few moments until the meringue is a light brown. Meringue bakes easily.

Blush Pie.
Two cups of rhubarb cut into small pieces, 1 egg, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoonfuls flour, pinch of salt, lemon rind.

Mix sugar, salt, lemon rind and flour together; bake the egg. Add the rhubarb and flour mixture to the egg. Bake with a top crust only, preferably in individual pie dishes. To all fresh berry pies, it is well to mix 3 to 4 level tablespoonfuls of rice with the sugar. This thickens the juice. If berry pie is baked in two crusts, paper tubes inserted in the incisions allow the steam to escape readily and prevent the juice from running out.

The juice of a can of fruit may be thickened with the sugar. The rhubarb and the whole turned into a baked crust. The top is then spread with a meringue and browned. A busy housekeeper might have several empty crusts on hand to use with her fruit at a moment's notice. Crusts baked on the outside of the inverted pie plate. Small tart shell may be baked on the outside of an inverted muffin or gem pan.

Will Attempt Trans-Pacific Flight
Lieut. P. J. Parer Announces Plan at Sydney, N.S.W.

An aeroplane flight across the Pacific Ocean is to be attempted, soon, it was announced recently by an Australian aviator, Lieut. P. J. Parer, who some time ago flew from England to Sydney.

To raise fifteen thousand pounds to finance the trans-Pacific attempt, Lieut. Parer has started on an exhibition flight "round Australia." It will be possible to follow a chain of islands from Australia two-thirds of the way across, but on the Canadian side of the ocean there has been a long stretch in which there is no land.

Lucky He Took Wife's Advice At Time He Did, Says This Regina Man

"I was going down hill pretty fast when I began taking Tanlac, but I can say for this medicine that it turned me right round and put me back on the road to health," said William Lorenz, 2154 McKay St., Regina.

"I suffered a great deal more from the after-effects of influenza than I did from the disease itself, as it left me in a run-down condition. My stomach was upset and I had a sick and depressed feeling most of the time. Nothing I ate agreed with me. My kidneys bothered me considerably and my back ached so that I could not bend over and straighten up again without suffering agony."

"It was a lucky day for me when my wife persuaded me to take Tanlac. It changed me all around in a surprisingly short time. It gave me an appetite and put my stomach in perfect condition so that nothing I eat disagreed with me. My kidneys do not bother me any more and my back is entirely free from pain. I gained fifteen pounds in weight, too, while taking Tanlac and just feel like a different person."

"Seeing what Tanlac did for me, doctors of our friends are taking it and they are just as enthusiastic as my wife and I are. We intend always to keep a bottle in the house so that if any of the family need building up we can give it to them at once."

"I feel that it is nothing but my duty to tell others about this medicine which does so much good."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

The main portion of the construction programme of the C.P.R. in the west this summer is being confined to the Acme-Dumbrille line, and a portion of the Weyburn-Lethbridge line, it was stated by D. G. He hopes to see the conclusion of work on the Acme-Dumbrille line by the fall, and by that time he expects to see completed 18 miles more of the Weyburn-Lethbridge line, west of Weyburn.

The Troubles of a Country Merchant

The following was taken from life and portrays conditions in some localities. We trust that this is not an ideal experience.

"Yes," remarked a country merchant, "I certainly have a snap."

Whole sale houses send down every month and draw on me at sight, but if I send a bill to a farmer he becomes swearing and quits trading at my store.

While I am hard up for money, many of those who are owing me are sending money in advance to mail order houses. If I contribute money for any cause people say I am bidding for trade.

If I don't they say I am a hog. Every day I am expected to dig up for everything that comes along from a raffle ticket to a church fund, by people who claim I ought to do this, because they do part of their trading here, but on friends, Robert Simpson and Tina Eaton, neither buy tickets nor help the church fund, and yet they get cash in advance business. If I sell a pair of pants I must treat the family to candy and cigars, and if I buy a load of potatoes I must do the same.

Customers who are able to pay hang on to their money, while I pay 10 per cent. at the bank to get ready cash.

I have a big business during hard times and poor crops from people who are willing to trade with me, provided I can duplicate catalogue prices and wait till harvest for my money. My scales weigh too much when I sell sugar and too little when I buy butter. I am a thief, a liar and a graffer, and if I don't I am a scoundrel. Yes, certainly this is a snap. And he looked over $1000 worth of accounts, all good and wonders how he can raise $350 to pay a sight draft due tomorrow.

Mr. A. Egan north of town also has a splendid garden.

For on a desert island where man must live alone. Though heaped with gold and silver which he could call his own. The stuff would lose its value and he would cease to care. And he would sigh for someone with whom his wealth to share.

Fame were an empty glory without the friends who praise. From others comes the splendor which crowns the tall of days: There's none so great or humble but what at times must find That with the lives of many his life is intertwined.

We must have kindly neighbors, we must have lovely friends. On them and all they give us the joy of life depends: The thing called self is trifling, it makes success defeat; We need the lives of others to make our lives complete.

It is rumoured around Medicine Hat that Hattie the Halmaker, has a new idea. During a dream, dreamy thoughts came to him, instead of making rain he would move on as a maker of hats in the future.

Value Of Experimental And Research Work As An Aid To Agriculture

Experimental and research work, promoted by, and under the guidance of, the Dominion Department of Agriculture, has made great strides in Canada during recent years. It is estimated, for instance, that the discovery of Marquis wheat by the Cereal Division of the Experimental Farms Branch has enriched the wheat grower of the three prairie provinces with $200,000 annually, and that the introduction of P. 3000, Stanley and Heron wheats into other provinces is being sought about a gain of at least half a million dollars yearly. But what is not the only grain that has profited immensely through the work carried on at the Experimental Farms. By the introduction of Daubney, Victory, and in particular Banner, a gain has been made of over $9,000,000 annually, while less than a year ago, such as barley, oats and peas, have proven profitable to the extent of $2,000,000 annually. All of these must and will develop in still greater profit to the country. Experiments in growing wheat with garden and field crops have led to the discovery of many new varieties, such as the Mella Apple, Early Malheur, Cora, Albany Tomato, etc. Hardy varieties of tree fruits have been proven of good growth in the prairie provinces, and the discovery of new varieties of alfalfa, notably a perennial red clover. Immensely valuable research work has been done by the Division of Chemistry, and by the Division of Botany, and by the Health of Animals Branch. Canada has been shown to be the healthiest of all countries in livestock, a fact which must be taken into large measure in the excellent system of supervision and control adopted and followed by the Health of Animals Branch. By its precautionary measures and other activities it is conservatively calculated the Division of Botany has saved the country $20,000,000 annually, largely by its crusade against snail and its control of late blight and root of potatoes, and other diseases to which plants are subject. Research work in its laboratories by the Seed Branch has resulted in approximately 100,000 tons of seedlings being made available to the farmer, and the fact that the department has saved the country a loss each year of $125,000,000 some idea of the colossal work being done can be formed. Research work by the greater use of crop rotations and the ascertaining of the most profitable rotations for each district. It is estimated that Ontario has benefited annually to the extent of $32,000,000, while by summerfallowing, a system urgently encouraged by the Experimental Farms Branch, the prairie provinces are thought to gain $90,000,000 annually. These few facts will illustrate the value of the research work made in the development of Canadian agriculture.

Alberta Butter

Butter Production at Present is Only at the Minimum.

The announcement that New York wants a million pounds of Alberta butter will be good news to the farmers of that province. In fact the farmer will find the news as good as New Yorkers will find the butter. That is one kind of farm produce that Alberta has more of than it knows what to do with. And production at present is only at its minimum, under the inducement of a steady export market at satisfactory prices, there is hardly a limit to the quantity of Canadian butter and farm dairies of Alberta can turn out. If New York will supply the market Alberta can supply the butter, in any quantity required.—Edmonton Bulletin.

"Made in B.C." Campaign.

The "Made in British Columbia" campaign is gaining in popularity, and according to the secretary, three thousand families in the province have already pledged themselves to use only British Columbia made goods with the expectation of two thousand additional pledges this week.

Innovations In British Air Express

Many Novelties Introduced for Improvement of Passengers.

A new 4000 Havilland eighteen engine "air express" plane, improved in design, has come into service on the London-Paris airway, according to an aeronautical correspondent of the London Times. It is now carrying the mail with the express mail, operating constantly on a route like London-Paris, a full load of passengers can be carried by it at a maximum speed of 13 miles an hour, and an average "cruising" speed of 108 miles an hour, for a total cost per passenger per mile of not more than 3/5d, which is the rate of the first-class railway fare in England.

One of the innovations in this new express plane is a "priced" "hot" display in the saloon, of hints and instructions for air travellers. They are, for example, that if a "humbly" are experienced, there will be due mainly to wind-gusts, and should be no way inspire fear. The passenger is recommended also to relax himself, to take things easy, to sit comfortably in his chair, and to hold on tight. It is pointed out that it is permissible to move about the saloon—this making no difference to the stability of the machine, as some nervous passengers seem to think it might.

Another innovation has just been introduced on the express route between London and Amsterdam. A map of the airway, shown in detail right from London to Amsterdam, is placed in the saloon of the aeroplane, and by means of an indicator actuated by the pilot from his driving seat, passengers are informed from minute to minute of each section of the route over which the aeroplane is flying.

The Uncertain Paradise

Utter Failure of the Communique Plan in Russia.

To Communists' intended position by the drying up of the golden stream from Russia, we commend the news of that country which filters through the more fortunate inhabitants make their escape from their native land.

Such members of the Soviet Government can continue to get away without their departure with bags of platinum exciting too much remark appear to be making an intelligent use of their opportunities. Only six now remain to carry on the great work of regeneration by bankruptcy. Even these do not seem to be entirely in accord. Mr. Trotsky is benevolently anxious to put Mr. Lenin under the care of a specialist to "treat" his disease. Mr. Lenin is equally concerned for the health of his affectionate colleague and recommends a "rest cure" in the Crimea, where popular enthusiasm towards Mr. Dzerzhinsky, the minister who took the hint, has so far, manifested itself directly in the form of belittlement. Meanwhile Russia itself is like a workhouse administered by lunatics.—From the London Daily Mail.

Saskatchewan Creameries

In 1920 forty-seven creameries operated in Saskatchewan produced seven million pounds of butter. Five new creameries are in course of erection at Yorkton, Assiniboia, Weyburn, Shaunavon and Empress. There is only one cheese factory in the province which produced 28,367 pounds of cheese last year.

Our slogan for the coming year should be, "Buy at Home." Add to your own and your neighbor's sales by keeping the money circulating in our own district.

Countess Bernstorff Will Get Property

Millions Seized By U.S. Must Be Returned.

Property valued at approximately $1,000,000 will be returned to Countess Bernstorff, wife of Count Johann von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States, under a ruling by Justice William H. Taft, in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

By the order of the court Thomas W. Miller, Allen Property Custodian, is directed to restore to Countess von Bernstorff all the bonds and cases seized from her under the provisions of the trading with the enemy act 3/5d, which is the rate of the first-class railway fare in England.

Countess von Bernstorff brought suit to recover the property early this year, contending that by birth she was an American citizen, and that the property seized by the government was handed down to her by inheritance from her father, Edward Luckenbach, formerly a silk merchant of New York, while she retained her citizenship as an American.

Experimenting With 900-Year-Old Seed

Corn Taken From Ruins In Arizona Looks Fresh.

The Rev. M. M. Stille, librarian at the Kansas Wesleyan University, has received from Frederick Branson, a graduate of the school, some relics of the ancient Maya Verde, in Arizona, which will be placed in the university museum. Among them are some corn, cereals and beans which were taken from under rocks where scientists say they have been for 900 years.

The corn looks as if they had been picked this year and the corn and beans are apparently in a perfect state of preservation. Dr. Stille planted some of the corn and beans and he declares that he believes they will sprout and grow.

Want Better Returns

Indians of Prairies Are Now Dissatisfied With Low Prices.

There are reports that the Crees of the prairie provinces are planning for organization and union. Big claims from the sister provinces have been in evidence with their brethren at Thunderchild, reserve, about seven miles from Turfville. A big pow-wow was held, and numbers of "whites" from the surrounding country witnessed the weird ceremonies and dances. The Indians are not at all satisfied with the low prices which are being paid for their particular wares, and many are the protests and signs of dissatisfaction.

Many of the white buyers, become accusatory to high prices, and are loath to accept the new economic conditions.

Cheap Real Estate.

The price that the United States Government paid Denmark for the Virgin Islands in the Caribbean is about $205 an acre. The Philippines paid an acre about 27 cents, Florida 14 cents, and Alaska 2 cents.—Youth's Column.

Scotland Likes Canadian Cattle.

Evidence of the favorable reception of Canadian cattle in Scotland is contained in a cable from Glasgow, Scotland, which announces that 629 Canadian cattle have been sold at 18 to 20½ cents per pound.

At the Crossroads.

At a crossroad it is better to sound your horn and put your foot on the brake than to step on the accelerator and try to beat the other fellow across.—Youth's Column.

Necessity For Trees On The Prairie Farm Should Be Recognized

Missionaries Going To Loneliest Island

English Curate and Wife Offered Their Services.

The Rev. Henry Martin Ruggie, curate-in-charge at Alton, Uppingham, Rutland, England, and his wife have volunteered to go to British Columbia, to the district of Columbia, a little island in the South Atlantic, to act as priest and schoolmaster. There are 119 inhabitants on the island, which is 1,512 miles west of Cape Town, and is visited only once a year by a British warship, and on remote occasions by passing vessels.

Friends of the islanders in England are now working hard to get Mr. and Mrs. Ruggie there. No vessels are likely to call for many months, and the organizers of the Tristan da Cunha Society at 15 Talbot Street, London, S.W., are seeking someone who will lead or charter a warship for the purpose.

Hollanders in Alberta

Have Been Arriving in Some Numbers Since the Spring.

Alberta is a favorite location with some of the Hollanders, according to indications and mixed farming, which the province is so adapted, attracts them. They have been arriving in some numbers since the spring and settling on the land, while many more are due to arrive this summer. A recent party of arrivals numbered sixty-five, practically all being in possession of sufficient capital to gain an immediate start on farming operations.

Assisting Industries

British Columbia Government Well Pleased With Results of New System.

The experiment of assisting industries by government loans has been very successful, according to Dr. M. C. Murphy, Minister of Industries for the province of British Columbia, who states that there has been no loss of time. Two industries made possible by government assistance, a woolen mill and a paper mill, are now in operation. It is estimated that the advantages of provincial government aid.

Large Sums For Railway Equipment

Six Million is Needed to Move Western Crop This Autumn.

During the next two months the Canadian National Railway will be asked $6,000,000 in preparation for the handling of Western Canada's bumper crop this fall, according to announcement made by E. W. Warren, general manager of Western Lines. Section gangs all over the west will be increased, ballast trains will be operated, and much employment provided by crews authorized. It is said it is said everything will be done to have the tracks in first class shape to handle a record number of cars of grain going to eastern seaboard.

New Colonization Policy

Planned by B.C. Government for Settling Unoccupied Lands.

A comprehensive colonization policy is being planned by the British Columbia Government for the purpose of settling some of the vast areas of unoccupied lands in that province. Experienced farmers are being sought for who it is desired to bring in and to these men it is proposed to loan a sufficient sum of money, up to $2,500, to help to get them started.

Farm Help Needed.

There is plenty of employment for experienced farmers in the Old Country farmers who are emigrating to Western Canada, according to officials of the Regina employment office. The market for trade and industrial classes is congested but many agriculturists can be absorbed.

Old Buff.

The upholder of the monetary training system was lauding its merits. "Why not take a course in efficiency training?" said he. "I can show you how to earn one more than you are getting." "I do that," said the Doyling Thomas.

(By Archibald Mitchell, Western Lecturer, Canadian Forestry Association.)

Of the necessity for trees on the prairie farm it should not be necessary to say much. There has only been a few months on the prairie to know how welcome a shelter is when the wind is blowing. We are glad to see the clouds in winter. We look upon them as a special blessing after a spell of thirty below, but they are all the better when you can enjoy the balmy weather they bring behind the shelter of a well-arranged belt of trees.

Then there is the dust. In this country, as in other dry countries, the dust, like the poor, is always with us. It is a nuisance, but it is not a disaster. At least the weather from the neighboring summerfall never reaches the houses when there is a belt of trees to break the wind.

And temper and nervous. There is a telling difference a few trees make. It is a wonder some poor souls get discouraged and, indeed, almost distracted at times when the wind comes sweeping down the prairie blows away and everything goes wrong at once. Two or three days of steady high wind have an uneasy power to exasperate one's nerves; there's no mistake about it.

I never saw so much genuine tree planting interest among prairie farmers as I have seen in just one district of Southern Alberta, this spring. Mr. Roy Walker, of Vulcan, planted 25,000 trees in 16,000 feet of the west of his farm, using 25,000 trees. The Staples farm at Vauxhall has planted 20,000 and a party near Lethbridge has planted 10,000. Numbers of farmers to my knowledge are preparing their ground this year for tree planting. They are the beginning which I believe will develop into a country-wide practice of systematic forestry.

Star is essential to the districts of liberal moisture, or the irrigated sections. Just as striking success have been scored in districts where there is no irrigation. Less N. J. Anderson, of Banwell, Alberta, gave up the attempt to prepare a ditch under his land and decided to preserve moisture and turned for relief to tree planting. He lives in a naturally dry area which never will have irrigation. He planted 5,000 trees of Russian poplar, ash, maple and willow. It took Mr. Anderson a whole year to complete the job. Not 25 of the whole number died. After four years, his shelter belt is from ten to twelve feet high. In 1919 and 1920 when there was no little moisture from rain failed to thrive, the trees grew to eight feet high. Mr. Anderson is drawing big dividends from his shelter belts in the form of freedom from soil drift, he grows fine crops of vegetables and he is considerably happier life as a farmer.

Some settlers say "I can't spare the money to plant trees." They reply: "An acre of 1,800 trees, planted 4 by 6 feet, is the work of a man and a team for one day. What is three days switched out of the middle of seedling time and tacked on to the end of the season with similar yields, but Smith having taken a couple of days for tree planting has a fine young forest to boot. That is the story in a nutshell. Very few men lack the time. And exceedingly few are so stupid as to call for a legitimate excuse that they are too busy for trees to thrive.

From Soldier to Farmers.

In Canada 25,000 ex-soldiers of the Great War have thus far taken up farms under the Dominion Government. The total amount of land held by the soldier settlers is 3,335,000 acres, in all parts of Canada.

Oh, Money! Money!

"Why don't you go to a hotel?" Mrs. James D. Blaisdell still spoke with a slightly injured air.

"Mr. Smith lifted a deprecatory hand. "Oh, indeed, that would not do at all—for my purpose," he murmured. "I wish to be very quiet. I fear I should find it quite disturbing—the noise and confusion of a public place like that. Besides, for my work, it seemed eminently fitting, as well as remarkably convenient."

"With a sudden exclamation the little dressmaker sat erect.

"Say, Harry, how funny we never thought! He's just come for my Maggie! Why not send him there?"

"For Maggie?" It was the little voice of Mr. Smith.

"Our sister—yes. Mr. Smith's face had come a look of startled surprise—look almost as if he said, 'What's wrong? But three—that is, I thought—understand from Mr. Clumbers that there were three Blaisdells, two brothers, and one sister—your, yours!'"

"Oh, poor Maggie ain't a Blaisdell!" explained the little dressmaker with some soul. "She's just Maggie to me. Duff, Harry Duff's daughter by his first wife, you know."

"Mother says so, when we children were little, so we, when we children were little, and always called her sister; though, of course, she really ain't any relation to us."

"I see, yes, to be sure, of course," Mr. Smith seemed to say. "He appeared to be acting something in his mind."

"Mr. Smith's face had come a look of startled surprise—look almost as if he said, 'What's wrong? But three—that is, I thought—understand from Mr. Clumbers that there were three Blaisdells, two brothers, and one sister—your, yours!'"

"Well, I shan't send him to Maggie, cut in Mrs. James D. Blaisdell with emphasis. "Poor Maggie, and quite enough on her hands, as it is, that that father of hers, besides, she ain't a Blaisdell at all."

"And she couldn't come and cook and take care of us near so much, either, could she?" plumped in Benny, who she took this time as her ally.

"That will do, Benny," admonished his mother, with nettled dignity. "You forced that children down to be seen and heard."

"Yes, but, mother, can't I be heard just a minute for this? Why don't you send me to my sister? Frank ain't Aunt Jane? Maybe they'll take him."

"The very thing!" cried Miss Flora Blaisdell. "I wouldn't wonder a wife if they did."

"Yes, I was thinking of them," nodded her sister-in-law. "And they're always glad of a little help—especially if Jane."

"Anybody should be," observed Mrs. James Blaisdell quietly.

"Only the brightest and kindest in his wife's checks should be able to get his head—and understood."

"Here, Benny," she directed, "go and show the gentleman where Uncle Frank lives."

"All right!" With a spring the boy leaped to the lawn and ran to the sidewalk, clapping on his toes. "I'll show you, Mr. Smith."

"The gentleman came close to his feet."

"I thank you, Mr. Blaisdell," he said, "and you, ladies. I shall hope to see you again soon, as you are so kind, if you will, in my work."

"I shall want to ask some questions." "Certainly, sir, certainly, I shall be glad to see you," promised his host. "Come any time, and ask all the questions you want to."

"And we shall be to interested," fluttered Miss Flora. "We always wanted to know about father's folks. And are you a Blaisdell, too?"

"There was the blindest of pauses. Mr. Smith coughed again twice behind his hand."

"—Oh—oh, yes, I may say that I am. Through my mother I am descended from the original immigrants, Ebenezer Blaisdell."

"Immigrant!" exclaimed Miss Flora.

"An immigrant?" Mrs. James Blaisdell spoke the word as if her tongue were a pair of tongs that had picked up a diseased condition of the tongue. "Yes, but not exactly as we commonly regard the term nowadays," smiled Mr. Smith. "Mr. Ebenezer Blaisdell was a man of means and of the family in this country. He came over in 1840."

"My how interesting!" murmured the little dressmaker, as the visitor descended the stairs.

"Good-night—good-night! And thank you again," bowed Mr. John Smith to the assembled group on the veranda. "And now, young man, I'm at your service, the only one as far as I'm concerned, still prancing on the sidewalk."

Record Parachute Drop For Women

Eighteen-Year-Old Girl Says Experience Was Terrible.

Miss Phoebe J. Fairgrave, 18 years old, of St. Paul, Minn., established what was said to be a new world's record for a parachute drop for women, when she dropped 1,200 feet from an airplane at Curtiss Flying Field.

The previous record was said to have been 1,000 feet, held by Miss Isabel Cody, et al. at Chicago last February. The altitude was recorded by an altimeter, according to Paul Goldsborough, of the Aero Club of Minnesota, who, with W. C. Omlie, pilot, went up in the plane with Miss Fairgrave.

It took exactly 20 minutes from the time Miss Fairgrave leaped until she alighted safely in a wheat field near New Brighton.

"It was terrible," said Miss Fairgrave later. "I never want to try it again."

"Your Teeth"

DECAY OF WOMEN'S TEETH

Copyright, 1921, by Rea Proctor McGee.

At least half per cent. of a dentist's patients are women. The other forty per cent. are men and children. There are two reasons for this; one is that women more frequently consult the dentist because they are more careful of their health and appearance and the other is that women's teeth actually are more subject to decay than men's.

The teeth of women are of the same structure as are the teeth of men and are expected to perform the same work but they usually do not get the chance because women do not eat foods that require as much vigorous chewing as those that men select.

One of the duties of the great majority of women is either to prepare or supervise the preparation of food for the household. The element of surprise in what the next meal has in store is absent in the case of women. In the order of cooking food takes what little "edge" there is left to the appetite. In addition, the preparation of food requires more or less frequent tasting of savory mixtures.

Women as a rule are satisfied to eat the soft and more highly flavored foods and sweetened desserts. As a result their teeth do not get the vigorous exercise that men's teeth do.

This lack of vigorous chewing allows the mucus of the saliva to stick to the teeth and the debris of food particles between and around the teeth.

Unless the teeth are most carefully brushed with the brush and twice each day and in addition are given a prophylactic treatment by the dentist occasionally, food and mucus will decompose and form an ideal soil for the growth of the bacteria of decay.

Where there is decomposition of food, organic acids are formed which attack the enamel of the teeth and make the work of the bacteria very easy. As the teeth decay, the porosity of the teeth becomes more extensive and the gums are inflamed and bleed easily.

All inflammation of the gums tends toward the establishment of that great of all enemies of the teeth—pyorrhea.
